

Neighborhood Greenways are routes on non-arterial streets that are optimized for safe, family-friendly bicycle and pedestrian travel, and are usually designed for reduced vehicle speeds and volumes. The greenway provides access to schools, parks, businesses with low-stress, family-friendly streets.

The Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT), working with area residents, has evaluated and is proposing to install a neighborhood greenway in Wallingford. The community successfully competed for funding through the Neighborhood Project Fund in 2010. The greenway will improve access to Wallingford Center, Wallingford Playfield, Hamilton International School, and the school programs located in the Lincoln High School building.

The Wallingford Neighborhood Greenway will start at Latona Ave NE and NE 44th Street. The greenway will travel west on NE/N 44th Street and turn south onto Burke Ave N. From Burke Ave N, the greenway will continue west on N 43rd Street and cross Stone Way N.

Proposed project elements along the greenway route include:

- signs and pavement legends
- spot pavement repairs
- crossing improvements
- improved landscaping at some traffic circles
- limited parking restrictions at traffic circles
- median island with access changes at Stone Way N and N 43rd Street
